2016 BURGUNDY EN PRIMEUR

CONCENTRATED WINES OF GREAT BEAUTY

Introduction by Our Resident Senior Consultant Anthony Hanson MW.

The 2016 Growing Season & Harvest

The first half of the 2016 growing season brought serious challenges. Spring was mild and wet, demanding many treatments by growers to prevent mildew outbreaks. Then, over a 3-day period, including devastating frost on 27th April, many young buds and leaves were destroyed by freezing weather. Damage was particularly severe in the vineyards of Beaune, Savigny, Pernand, Meursault, Chassagne and several Grand Cru whites. There was also considerable damage on the Côte de Nuits including Echézeaux, Chambolle-Musigny, Nuits-Saint-Georges, Clos-Vougeot and parts of Gevrey-Chambertin. The weather after the frost was erratic, and many vineyards took time to recover, resulting in further crop being lost.

Fortunately, towards the end of June, summer arrived, bringing favourable days throughout July and August. Weather conditions were balanced, not too hot or dry, with sufficient rain - which allowed sugars to climb and skins to ripen slowly, while precious freshness was retained. Glorious days, with beneficial, brief periods of rain, lasted through September to the harvest, which generally took place between the 20th and the end of the month. Picking took place in excellent conditions. Astonishingly, after so un-promising a spring, accumulations of colouring matter and tannins in the skins were sometimes above those of 2015, with grapes being so healthy that very few bunches needed eliminating on sorting tables. Many beautiful, impeccably balanced wines have been made, both red and white.

The 2016 Reds

This vintage is not one where high heat in the summer produced powerful, rich wines, but one where vineyard origins show precisely, thanks to the long growing season. A combination of focused vineyard tending, careful winemaking and – in many cases – small yields has produced reds which have superb fruit intensity, with excellent balance between acidity, tannins, and fruit concentration. Many may be enjoyed while youthful, and there are also great wines for the medium and long term.

The 2016 Whites

The 2016 vintage is back to a more classic style for Burgundy whites, in contrast to the richer, more luscious 2015s. Chablis wines show precision and poise, with freshness and beautiful flavour intensity. Vineyard site is transparent in these wines, and this feature is key as one moves further south through the Côte d'Or and into the Côte Chalonnaise. Consistently, the wines have lovely concentration, liveliness and energy. The only issue is one of stocks as so many growers harvested considerably less than in a 'normal' year.

A NOTE ON BUYING 2016s

by Linden Wilkie, Managing Director

It's a terrible irony that such fine quality has been accompanied by such low quantity with the 2016s. We tasted in June and November 2017 in the cellars of Burgundy, and looking back at my barrel-tasting notes, words like "luminous", "succulent", "pure", "charming", and "expressive" appear over and over. These wines will offer a great deal of appeal. It's a Burgundy lover's vintage and for both reds and whites.

Demand for this small high quality crop will be high, and inevitably top estates have increased prices. Wines are offered on allocation. As always, priority will be given to customers who have bought in past years and to balanced orders – i.e. those that combine wines proportionally, to include different appellations and levels, as well as a range of growers. As in past years, we will work hard to provide attractive and balanced allocations in return.

Of course, Burgundy is far more than elite vineyards and names, and there is tremendous value to be found by looking beyond these limits. Village level wines are going to offer terrific drinking. For advice, please get in touch.

Note that our offer includes releases of the 2015 vintage from Domaine Claude Dugat, and Domaine Emmanuel Rouget.

DOMAINE AUDIFFRED

Henri Audiffred runs this 5 hectare estate in Vosne-Romanée. He took up the reins in 2003, and began working full time at his own estate in 2007 after 14 years working at Domaine de la Romanée-Conti. He has since applied what he learned at The Domaine about vineyard cultivation to working at his own estate. Vinification is quite different however – his search for the natural expression of the terroir has led him to adopt 100% de-stemming and fermentation with natural yeasts following a brief cold soak; Then he only uses used barrels for élevage. The result is wines with a kind of direct authenticity and no make up.

DOMAINE FRANÇOIS CARILLON

The Domaine is in the front ranks of the very best white Burgundy producers, well known for their racy, elegant, focused, mineral style, and the precision in which each individual terroir is communicated label to label. The 2016 vintage showcases the talents of François Carillon and is a vintage where the terroir of each wine shines through.

DOMAINE SYLVAIN CATHIARD

The status of this Vosne-Romanée superstar has continued to rise as the reins have been passed from Sylvain to Sebastien Cathiard. The market cannot get enough of their wines. Of course, everyone wants some of their RSV or Malconsorts in their cellar. However, the quality runs all the way through the range, with wines like the Vosne village, the Clos de l'Orme, and the NSG Thorey offering very good value for the quality.

DOMAINE COQUARD-LOISON-FLEUROT

This domaine is something of a surprise. The land holdings are extraordinary, with no less than six grands crus in the Côte de Nuits. But for many years "CLF", as it is often referred to, sat behind the scenes, supplying négociants. Today it is making a name for itself for quality domaine-produced wines, under the new, talented leadership of Claire Fleurot, and winemaker Thomas Colladot. Prices have not yet caught up with quality. Smart buying here.

DOMAINE CLAUDE DUGAT

The charming Claude Dugat has perhaps the best smile in Burgundy, and it is reflected in his approach to his beloved Gevrey-Chambertin which aim to express Pinot Noir's "amiability". The domaine is small, and all the vineyards Claude and his son Bertrand work are a short walk from their ancient cellars – the 13th Century 'Celliers des Dimes' (built on a Roman base). There is always enormous intensity in Dugat's wines – low yields, and immaculate fruit are then aged in a high proportion of new oak which the wines swallow completely. The wines age brilliantly, but recent vertical tastings also reveal how appealing they can be young too. Fragrance, fruit richness, and a lush supple texture are the hallmarks here. Every label is a benchmark for quality. Quantity is always the limitation.

DOMAINE DUROCHÉ

Pierre Duroché is another of the exciting new generation in Burgundy. He is the fifth generation at the estate and totally focused on Gevrey-Chambertin, where he has 8.25ha spread over several vineyards. The wines are exceptionally good and in our view challenge the most illustrious names in the village. The style is open, fragrant, transparent and lively. There is a tiny amount of grand cru, but we are also big fans of the lieux dits village-level Gevreys which can age, but offer great youthful fruit for early drinking. For longer term cellaring don't miss the old vine Lavaux St Jacques which is very special (and, sorry to say, highly allocated).

DOMAINE FOURRIER / JEAN-MARIE FOURRIER

Today, this domaine requires no introduction, Jean-Marie Fourier's wines have acquired cult status amongst Burgundy enthusiasts. Tasting in his cellar is a revelation. Extreme meticulousness in the vineyard is his secret, then relative simplicity in winemaking. Henri Mayer was his mentor (he worked the 1988 vintage). Aromatic and fruit intensity are hallmarks, combined with textural finesse.

Jean-Marie Fourier

Made in exactly the same way as Domaine Fourier, by Jean-Marie, from purchased fruit.

DOMAINE HARMAND-GEOFFROY

This small family domaine are Gevrey-Chambertin specialists, making delicious, typically dark-fruit and wild spice character wines. Both the fruit-laden village wine and the deep, brooding grand cru offer terrific value. The domaine is 9 hectares of vineyards all planted to Pinot Noir in Gevrey-Chambertin. The viticulture and winemaking are both traditional offering a wonderful opportunity to truly get to know the top-notch qualities the vineyards of Gevrey have to offer. The 2016 collection is outstanding – the best yet and a real joy to taste from barrel.

DOMAINE JEAN GRIVOT

One of the Côte de Nuit's great domaines, with vineyard holdings across Nuits, Vosne, and Chambolle, as well as grands crus Clos de Vougeot, Echézeaux and Richebourg. Quality here has been lifted to new heights in recent vintages as a focus on purity and finesse has been prioritized. The next generation, the daughter Mathilde, has taken over from her father Etienne. It's been a smooth transition as both believe great wine begins with attention in the vineyards. Mathilde brings new ideas to this domaine, but she's mindful of the Grivot family's history. The winemaking style is classic modern.

DOMAINE HUDELLOT-NOËLLAT / CHARLES VAN CANNEYT

One of Burgundy's finest domaines in land holdings but also wines. In the past couple of years the chance to taste ex-domaine cellared bottles of Richebourg and Romanée-St-Vivant from vintages like 1978, 1980, 1985 and 1990, it is clear that these are amongst the most compelling examples of any domaine and of a classical style. Charles van Canneyt took over from his grandfather Alain Hudelot-Noëllat in 2008, and has proven himself more than a safe pair of hands with such jewel appellations. Quality here is very high, and the sense of finesse increased.

Charles van Canneyt

Although only 29 years old, for some time now Charles van Canneyt has been making waves and garnering high scores for his wines at Domaine Hudelot-Noëllat. Since 2012, he has been making small quantities of very fine 'micro-négoce' wines from top Burgundy appellations. These wines are impressive, worthy of a place in your cellar. A chance to taste some back vintages in November 2017 affirmed their ageworthiness too.

DOMAINE LAMARCHE

Together with Domaine de la Romanée-Conti and Liger-Belair, one of three domaines to hold a monopole grand crus in Vosne-Romanée, this is one of the most prestigious estates in Burgundy, with a star collection of the finest vineyards to match. The status of La Grande Rue as a grand cru was restored in 1992. Quality has been rising steadily at Lamarche, especially since the mid-2000s when Nicole took over the vineyards and winemaking. In our experience tasting from barrel, the emphasis on terroir-expression and on finesse is easily evident when comparing the three quite distinct Vosne-Romanée 1er Crus. As is often the case when a domaine's quality is rising, prices take quite some time to catch up. Considering the high quality and the prestige of the domaine, it is a very good time to be putting Domaine Lamarche in your cellar.

DOMAINE HUBERT- LIGNIER

A name synonymous with benchmark quality Clos de la Roche, Lignier's wines are stylistically full-flavoured, rich, concentrated, yet also expressive, and sensitive to origin. The intensity of perfume and fruit in a well-aged example is absolutely captivating and can be thrilling. This style carries throughout the range.

The whites here are famous and sought-after. These are bold, modern Chassagne-Montrachet's; They are bursting with fruit and have tangy, saline-edged acidity, with good tension and length. These wines are an absolute mouth-watering joy. We loved the 2016s here.

DOMAINE PERROT-MINOT

Christophe Perrot-Minot's wines could be described as something of a Burgundy Ultra – indeed, this word is used on some cuvée to denote tiny yields from exceptionally old vines. 'Vieilles Vignes' just doesn't do it justice. Everything is done meticulously, with rigorous sorting to ensure cuvées in great health. The style is modern – destemmed, cold pre-soaking – but since about ten years ago the wines have lightened to a delightfully transparent expression. Gentler pumping over has largely replaced punching down, and new oak has been pared back to 25% for village, 40% for 1er Cru and 50% for grand cru. The incredible low-yield fruit, exceptional rigour in sorting, and the lighter touch make these very special indeed. Tiny quantities made of thrilling quality – amongst the very finest wines you can find in Burgundy today.

DOMAINE PAUL PILLOT / THIERRY PILLOT

Domaine Paul Pillot is in its 119th year as a family domaine. Today it is run by Paul Pillot's son Thierry, who started in 1999, and took full responsibility here in 2004. In addition, to the domaine's 13ha, he also makes a small amount of Bâtard-Montrachet under his own name at Domaine Thierry Pillot. Meticulous work in the vineyards is followed by a low-key approach in the winery – the oak signature is subtle and to the background with terroir-driven intensity to the fore. Don't overlook the superb lieu dit St Aubin.

DOMAINE EMMANUEL ROUGET/ DOMAINE GUILLAUME ROUGET

These wines are made by Emmanuel's son Guillaume, a sensitive and talented pair of hands. The Vosne-Romanée village and Echézeaux shown here are benchmark quality for the appellations but do try the range as the same hard work applies throughout.

In style, Beaumonts is fragrant and fleshy with an enticing 'Vosne-spice' character – it's the most seductive of the three. The Echézeaux is perhaps the grandest of the three, showing power and concentration with supple texture. The Cros Parantoux is perhaps the slowest to evolve, the most reserved, with intensity close to that of the Echézeaux, but with real tensile strength, precision and purity of expression. It is the most intellectually interesting of the three in my view but also requires the most patience. However, do not overlook the 'lesser' appellations here, including Guillaume Rouget's own domaine's Chorey-lès-Beaune which we really enjoyed from barrel.
